OAS Leaders Call Sanctions Against Cuba

Unanimous Edict
Denounces Castro
For 'Aggressions'

WASHINGTON (AP) — With a blast at Castro-Communist subversion in Latin America, the hemisphere foreign ministers signed early today a resolution recommending that the American republics apply limited sanctions against non-Communist ships which sail to Cuba.

The 200 vote "to condemn forcefully" Fidel Castro's regime for "repeated intervention and aggression" in Venezuela, Bolivia and other hemisphere countries was a highlight of the debate-filled, three-day Organization of American States conference on the Cuban threat.

The closer 15-0 vote, with six abstentions, for the U.S.-proposed shipping penalty was an especially sweet victory for weary U.S. diplomats.

After long hours of negotiating they lost a bid for hemisphere blacklisting of non-Communist firms doing business with Cuba.

Under the shipping proviso, part of a 15-point resolution aimed at confining the Havana menace, non-Communist vessels going to Cuba would be denied fueling facilities in Latin American ports and would get no government-financed cargoes.

The United States itself has long applied this penalty. Under the new OAS recommendation, which is not mandatory, it is up to the other American republics to follow suit.

The idea is to put more teeth into appeals by OAS members—who have barred their own trade with Cuba—to other non-Communist nations to quit dealing with Castro so long as he pushes insurrection in the Americas.

Another point in the new resolution repeated the OAS appeal to "friendly states" to curb their commercial transactions and government credits in Cuban trade. But it was watered down with elimination of the blacklisting proviso.

Since January, 1963, calls by non-Communist ships at Cuban ports have dropped by one third with the U.S. blacklisting of some 270 vessels. Cuba's trade with the West has slipped to about $350 million a year, but countries such as England, France and Spain continue to do business with her.

Skydiver Prays, Leaps to Death

ROCKLEDGE, Fla. (AP) — Carrying the signed contract for his own funeral and wearing two parachutes, skydiver John Wasik stepped from an airplane Sunday at 3,200 feet. Instead of gripping the ripcord he folded his hands in prayer and crashed to his death.

Youth Killed By Accidental Shotgun Blast

A 10-year-old Celina youth was accidentally shot and killed on a Walnut Twp. farm 1 p.m. Sunday.

Pronounced dead on arrival at Berger Hospital by Dr. F. W. Anderson was Bruce Allen Mohr, son of Mrs. Lurline Wolford, 129 Lakeview Drive, Celina, and Louis F. Mohr, Waterloo, Ind.

The youth, with his step-brother Don Wolford 18, and two older brothers, Ronald and Verne Mohr, aged 15 and 13 respectively, were walking towards a woodlot on the farm of Robert Norpeth located on the East Ringgold-Northern Road.

The eldest, Don Wolford, was carrying an old single-shot 16-gauge shotgun. The victim was walking about four feet to the left and a little ahead of his step-brother, according to the account of the accident given Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff.

THE GUN was loaded. It accidentally discharged and the full blast of the gun struck the victim in the right side of the face. The charge also grazed his right shoulder.

Post-Hurricane Flooding Poses New Problems

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — The savage Rio Grande, monstrously bloated by Hurricane Beulah's cloudbursts, sent a record torrent raging into the fringes of five South Texas cities today after ripping out a flood control dam.

The Texas Department of Public Safety warned residents along the side channel—the Arroyo Colorado—in Mercedes, La Feria, Harlingen, Rio Hondo and Lozano to flee to high ground.

Nearly 1,000 Harlingen residents fled to shelter by dawn as water topped the rim of the arroyo and lapped into the neighborhoods of fine homes.

At 6:30 a.m. CDT the Arroyo surged with 38.2 feet of water—more than a foot above the predicted crest—and it still rose. A call went out for more volunteers to help crews who had spent the night building sandbag dikes around homes and storm sewers which lead the Arroyo.

The Coast Guard said its helicopters evacuated 635 Mexicans surrounded by flood waters by dark Sunday.

The Department of Public Safety said Harlingen was in the most danger of the five Texas cities threatened by the ram-paging Arroyo Colorado.

The Arroyo carried a flood crest of 34.2 feet in 1958. After that flood the 300-foot wide steel and concrete dam was built near Mercedes to turn flood waters into a man-made channel.

Child Buried Alive

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Brent Miles, 8, Hamilton, was killed Sunday when buried under a pile of dirt in an excavation at the city-owned Crawford's Woods picnic area.

Police said the boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Miles, was playing with two companions at the back of a large pile of dirt. A bulldozer operator said he earlier had chased some youths away from the area. He said that a boy told him one of his friends had been buried under the dirt. The operator dug the boy out by hand, but efforts to revive him were unsuccessful.

Percy To Fight Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP)—As Illinois' potential favorite son, Sen. Charles H. Percy vows to go to extraordinary lengths to keep from becoming an active participant in the pre-convention campaign for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination.

Percy said in an interview he will have no compunction about signing affidavits disclaiming presidential ambitions in states where that is necessary to keep his name off preferential primary ballots.

Gov. Ronald Reagan of California has said he would not sign such affidavits because they would conflict with his plan to become California's favorite son and "would make me a liar either in the other states or at home."

It is different with him, Percy said. "I am not a candidate and I'm not going to campaign," Percy said. "I'm going to stay as far away from it as possible. I haven't made up my mind whom I will support for the nomination and I probably won't until next June."

Percy has made it clear he will keep his name off the ballot in the nation's first primary in New Hampshire March 12. He may discourage his supporters there, but can't prevent them from launching a write-in campaign.

He says he is determined also to keep his name off the ballots in Wisconsin, Nebraska and Oregon, where affidavits are required for such actions.

California law requires that Reagan enter a slate of delegates pledged to him in a June primary if he wants to be favorite son. Percy, on the other hand, will have to depend on the willingness of unpledged delegates chosen in a primary to designate him as a favorite son and thus will not be the direct choice of Illinois voters.

He was a fourth grader at East Elementary School, Celina. Burial will be in Swamp College Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home beginning noon Tuesday.

ABC Shows Little Hurt By Walkout

NEW YORK (AP) — Lawyer Donald L. Flynn, who helped negotiate the $2-million deal when the American Broadcasting Co. bought the movie "Mutiny on the Bounty" from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer last July, threatened the movie into a video tape machine Sunday night and flipped a button to put it on the air.

Flynn, a lawyer, was one of the ABC executives who have been manning television cameras, control boards and other equipment to keep the network on the air during the strike by union technicians which started late Friday.

ABC spokesmen said very little Sunday television programming was affected by the strike, since most of the programs had been taped earlier.

They also said the ABC radio network was kept going by fill-in personnel without interruption.

The strike was started by the AFL-CIO National Association of Broadcast Employees and Technicians (NABET) in a contract dispute mostly over pay issues. The AFL-CIO American Federation of Television and Radio Artists (AFTRA), composed of television and radio performers and announcers, instructed its members not to cross NABET picket lines.

The technicians union—which represents about 1,500 ABC employees in New York City, Chicago, Washington, San Francisco and Los Angeles—called the strike after contract talks with ABC and the National Broadcast Employees Union failed.

The union said that as part of its strategy it did not call a strike against NBC.

Technicians of the Columbia Broadcasting System belong to another union and are not involved in the strike.

California GOP Will Back Reagan

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — California's Republican party organization is ready to go to the GOP national convention backing Gov. Ronald Reagan as a favorite son presidential candidate.

A few hours before a poll was released showing Reagan's popularity has slipped a bit this summer, the Republican State Central Committee unanimously supported the first term governor as California's favorite son.

State GOP Chairman James W. Halley told the Republicans Sunday: "The eyes of the nation are indeed on this state and on Ronald Reagan."

Mervin D. Field's California poll indicated California voters are finding more fault with Reagan. Field's figures show 37 per cent thought Reagan was doing a good job as of this month, compared with 41 per cent in poor job jumped from 17 to 25 per cent.

Field said voters in the earlier poll were judging Reagan more on style and personality. It now appears, he said, that Reagan's handling of state problems has begun to affect his popularity.

Field said Reagan is being criticized chiefly for proposing cuts in the state health program, raising taxes, cutting mental health funds and proposing tuition and fee increases for the state university.

The Republican party's state policy-making body gave its blessing to Reagan as the state's favorite son candidate for president next June as the head of an 86-vote delegation in the state's presidential primary election.

As of now no opposition is in sight for the Reagan delegation.

King Hits Apathy of Clergymen

CLEVELAND (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. told a Baptist congregation Sunday that church bodies are "too busy with ecclesiastical machinery" when they should be denouncing the war in Vietnam and racial injustice.

"The church has not taken the stand on peace that it should," Dr. King said, adding that silence of church bodies sanctions the war.

Dr. King said that "when I took my stand only 21 per cent of the American people were against the war. Now, the latest poll shows 54 per cent against it, and many more confused by the whole situation."

He said his stand on the war was taken years ago after tracing how the United States became involved.

Dr. King made the rare pulpit appearance in Cleveland at the Shiloh Baptist Church to help celebrate the fourth anniversary of the Rev. Alfred M. Waller Sr., as pastor. Many of the more than 1,000 persons attending were white.

On race, Dr. King said: "The largest Protestant denomination in America, the Southern Baptist Convention, will spend millions on missionary work in Africa. But if an African came to worship in their churches on Sunday, 90 per cent of them would kick the Negro out."

Rusk, Gromyko To Air Stand on Major Issues

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk comes to the United Nations today to talk with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko but chances looked slim for agreement on Vietnam or the Middle East.

Rusk is to give a dinner tonight for Gromyko after conferences separately with Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban, British Foreign Secretary George Brown and Danish Premier Jens Otto Krag.

Rusk, Gromyko, Brown and French Foreign Minister Maurice rice Couve de Murville will be guests of U.N. Secretary-General U Thant at a Big Four "discussion dinner" in Thant's office Tuesday night.

Meanwhile, Eban was to speak today in the U.N. General Assembly's general policy debate, opening public exchange with Arab foreign ministers over how to settle the Israeli-Arab war fought last June 5-10.

The Arab summit meeting in Khartoum Aug. 29-Sept. 1 agreed on united diplomatic efforts to achieve the withdrawal of Israeli troops from Egypt, Jordan and Syria and on "no peace in negotiation with Israel."

But a source in a position to know stressed Sunday that Israeli's position was that any such withdrawal "should be consequent upon peace moves" worked out in direct Arab-Israeli negotiations. He said Eban had found "a large degree of understanding" from other foreign ministers to whom he had stated that position.

U.S. Chief Delegate Arthur J. Goldberg said on CBS radio-TV's "Face the Nation" Sunday that the United States would "persist in exploring" for Soviet willingness to help get a new Geneva conference to settle the war in Vietnam.

But Goldberg, who will go with Rusk to Thant's discussion dinner, declared that he was "not at the moment particularly hopeful that these discussions will change the posture" of the Soviet Union.

Gromyko did not respond in the General Assembly Friday to Goldberg's question whether the Soviet Union would join Britain in reconvening the 1954 and 1962 sessions of the Geneva conference for negotiations on Vietnam.

OAS Leaders Call Sanctions Against Cuba

Unanimous Edict
Denounces Castro
For 'Aggressions'

WASHINGTON (AP) — With a blast at Castro-Communist subversion in Latin America, the hemisphere foreign ministers signed early today a resolution recommending that the American republics apply limited sanctions against non-Communist ships which sail to Cuba.

The 20-0 vote "to condemn forcefully" Fidel Castro's regime for "repeated intervention and aggression" in Venezuela, Bolivia and other hemisphere countries was a highlight of the debate-filled, three-day Organization of American States conference on the Cuban threat.

The closer 15-0 vote, with six abstentions, for the U.S.-proposed shipping penalty was an especially sweet victory for weary U.S. diplomats.

After long hours of negotiating they lost a bid for hemisphere blacklisting of non-Communist firms doing business with Cuba.

Under the shipping proviso, part of a 15-point resolution aimed at confining the Havana menace, non-Communist vessels going to Cuba would be denied fueling facilities in Latin American ports and would get no government-financed cargoes.

The United States itself has long applied this penalty. Under the new OAS recommendation, which is not mandatory, it is up to the other American republics to follow suit.

The idea is to put more teeth into appeals by OAS members—who have barred their own trade with Cuba—to other non-Communist nations to quit dealing with Castro so long as he pushes insurrection in the Americas.

Another point in the new resolution repeated the OAS appeal to "friendly states" to curb their commercial transactions and government credits in Cuban trade. But it was watered down with elimination of the blacklisting proviso.

Since January, 1963, calls by non-Communist ships at Cuban ports have dropped by one third with the U.S. blacklisting of some 270 vessels. Cuba's trade with the West has slipped to about $350 million a year, but countries such as England, France and Spain continue to do business with her.

Post-Hurricane Flooding Poses New Problems

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — The savage Rio Grande, monstrously bloated by Hurricane Beulah's cloudbursts, sent a record torrent raging into the fringes of five South Texas cities today after ripping out a flood control dam.

The Texas Department of Public Safety warned residents along the side channel—the Arroyo Colorado—in Mercedes, La Feria, Harlingen, Rio Hondo and Lozano to flee to high ground.

Nearly 1,000 Harlingen residents fled to shelter by dawn as water topped the rim of the arroyo and lapped into the neighborhoods of fine homes.

At 6:30 a.m. CDT the Arroyo surged with 38.2 feet of water—more than a foot above the predicted crest—and it still rose. A call went out for more volunteers to help crews who had spent the night building sandbag dikes around homes and storm sewers which lead the Arroyo.

The Coast Guard said its helicopters evacuated 635 Mexicans surrounded by flood waters by dark Sunday.

The Department of Public Safety said Harlingen was in the most danger of the five Texas cities threatened by the rampaging Arroyo Colorado.

The Arroyo carried a flood crest of 34.2 feet in 1958. After that flood the 300-foot wide steel and concrete dam was built near Mercedes to turn floodwaters into a man-made channel. (Continued on Page 2)

Child Buried Alive

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Brent Miles, 8, Hamilton, was killed Sunday when buried under a pile of dirt in an excavation of the city-owned Crawford's Woods picnic area.

Police said the boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Miles, was playing with two companions at the back of a large pile of dirt. A bulldozer operator said he earlier had chased some youths away from the area. He said that a boy told him one of his friends had been buried under the dirt. The operator dug the boy out by hand, but efforts to revive him were unsuccessful.

Percy To Fight Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP)—As Illinois' potential favorite son, Sen. Charles H. Percy vows to go to extraordinary lengths to keep from becoming an active participant in the pre-convention campaign for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination.

Percy said in an interview he will have no compunction about signing affidavits disclaiming presidential ambitions in states where that is necessary to keep his name off preferential primary ballots.

Gov. Ronald Reagan of California has said he would not sign such affidavits because they would conflict with his plan to become California's favorite son and "would make me a liar either in the other states or at home."

It is different with him, Percy said. "I am not a candidate and I'm not going to campaign," Percy said. "I'm going to stay as far away from it as possible. I haven't made up my mind whom I will support for the nomination and I probably won't until next June."

Percy has made it clear he will keep his name off the ballot in the nation's first primary in New Hampshire March 12. He may discourage his supporters there, but can't prevent them from launching a write-in campaign.

He says he is determined also to keep his name off the ballots in Wisconsin, Nebraska and Oregon, where affidavits are required for such actions.

California law requires that Reagan enter a slate of delegates pledged to him in a June primary if he wants to be a favorite son. Percy, on the other hand, will have to depend on the willingness of unpledged delegates chosen in a primary to designate him as a favorite son and thus will not be the direct choice of Illinois voters.

ABC Shows Little Hurt By Walkout

NEW YORK (AP) — Lawyer Donald L. Flynn, who helped negotiate the $2-million deal when the American Broadcasting Co. bought the movie "Mutiny on the Bounty" from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer last July, threaded the movie into a video tape machine Sunday night and flipped a button to put it on the air.

Flynn, a lawyer, was one of the ABC executives who have been manning television cameras, control boards and other equipment to keep the network on the air during the strike by union technicians which started late Friday.

ABC spokesmen said very little Sunday television programming was affected by the strike, since most of the programs had been taped earlier.

They also said the ABC radio network was kept going by fill-in personnel without interruption.

The strike was started by the AFL-CIO National Association of Broadcast Employees and Technicians (NABET) in a contract dispute mostly over pay issues.

The AFL-CIO American Federation of Television and Radio Artists (AGTRA), composed of television and radio performers and announcers, instructed its members not to cross NABET picket lines.

The technicians union—which represents about 1,500 ABC employees in New York City, Chicago, Washington, San Francisco and Los Angeles—called the strike after contract talks with ABC and the National Broadcast Inc. stalled. The union said that as part of its strategy it did not call a strike against NBC.

Technicians of the Columbia Broadcasting System belong to another union and are not involved in the strike.

Little Accord Seen on Vietnam, Mid-East

WASHINGTON (AP)—As Secretary of State Dean Rusk comes to the United Nations today to talk with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko but chances looked slim for agreement on Vietnam or the Middle East.

Rusk is to give a dinner to-night for Gromyko after conferences separately with Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban, British Foreign Secretary George Brown and Danish Premier Jens Otto Krag.

Rusk, Gromyko, Brown and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville will be guests of U.N. Secretary-General U Thant at a Big Four "discussion dinner" in Thant's office Tuesday night.

Meanwhile, Eban was to speak today in the U.N. General Assembly's general policy debate, opening public exchange with Arab foreign ministers over how to settle the Israeli-Arab war fought last June 5-10.

The Arab summit meeting in Khartoum Aug. 29-Sept. 1 agreed on united diplomatic efforts to achieve the withdrawal of Israeli troops from Egypt, Jordan and Syria and on "no

peace in negotiation with Israel."

But a source in a position to know stressed Sunday that Israeli's position was that any such withdrawal "should be consequent upon peace moves" worked out in direct Arab-Israeli negotiations. He said Eban had found "a large degree of understanding" from other foreign ministers to whom he had stated that position.

U.S. Chief Delegate Arthur J. Goldberg said on CBS radio-TV's "Face the Nation" Sunday that the United States would "persist in exploring" for Soviet willingness to help get a new Geneva conference to settle the war in Vietnam.

But Goldberg, who will go with Rusk to Thant's discussion dinner, declared that he was "not at the moment particularly hopeful that these discussions will change the posture" of the Soviet Union.

Gromyko did not respond in the General Assembly Friday to Goldberg's question whether the Soviet Union would join Britain in reconvening the 1954 and 1962 sessions of the Geneva conference for negotiations on Vietnam.

Roundtown

AN unscientific observation, but one that is a sure sign of cold weather was the honking of wild geese heard by our local weather observer last night.

BINGMAN Drugs opened for business this morning at its new location on W. Main St. . . The drug store was temporarily housed in the IOOF building on E. Main St., since the W. Main St. tragedy on April 15. . . Wardell's another business establishment that was leveled in the explosion, is scheduled for a grand opening on Thursday at the new N. Court St. headquarters. Bingman's will delay a grand opening celebration until November although the store opened for business today.

SPEAKING of the W. Main St. area . . . The vacant lot, where the Bingman Store used to be, has been labelled an eyesore and a safety hazard by several residents . . . The "open air" basement has been filled with bricks and other debris from the explosion.

RUMORS continue to spread concerning youngsters involved in the windshield breaking spree of a few weeks ago. . . The rumors claim three local teenagers of prominent families were involved and the story has been "hushed up." The courts and law enforcement officers assure us that the stories are strictly rumors. . . For those who might "think they know who did it," a $250 reward is still being offered by local car dealers for information leading to the arrest of those responsible for the vandalism.

King Hits Apathy of Clergymen

CLEVELAND (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. told a Baptist congregation Sunday that church bodies are "too busy with ecclesiastical machinery" when they should be denouncing the war in Vietnam and racial injustice.

"The church has not taken the stand on peace that it should," Dr. King said, adding that silence of church bodies sanctions the war.

Dr. King said that "when I took my stand only 21 per cent of the American people were against the war. Now, the latest poll shows 54 per cent against it, and many more confused by the whole situation."

He said his stand on the war was taken years ago after tracing how the United States became involved.

Dr. King made the rare pulpit appearance in Cleveland at the Shiloh Baptist Church to help celebrate the fourth anniversary of the Rev. Alfred M. Waller Sr. as pastor. Many of the more than 1,000 persons attending were white.

On race, Dr. King said: "The largest Protestant denomination in America, the Southern Baptist Convention, will spend millions on missionary work in Africa. But if an African came to worship in their churches on Sunday, 90 per cent of them would kick the Negro out."

California GOP Will Back Reagan

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — California's Republican party organization is ready to go to the GOP national convention backing Gov. Ronald Reagan as a favorite son presidential candidate.

A few hours before a poll was released showing Reagans popularity has slipped a bit this summer, the Republican State Central Committee unanimously supported the first term governor as California's favorite son.

State GOP Chairman James W. Halley told the Republicans Sunday: "The eyes of the nation are indeed on this state and on Ronald Reagan."

Mervin D. Field's California poll indicated California voters are finding more fault with Reagan. Field's figures show 37 per cent thought Reagan was doing a good job as of this month, compared with 41 per cent in poor job jumped from 17 to 25 per cent.

Field said voters in the earlier poll were judging Reagan more on style and personality. It now appears, he said, that Reagan's handling of state problems has begun to affect his popularity.

Field said Reagan is being criticized chiefly for proposing cuts in the state health program, raising taxes, cutting mental health funds and proposing tuition and fee increases for the state university.

The Republican party's state policy-making body gave its blessing to Reagan as the state's favorite son candidate for president next June as the head of an 86-vote delegation in the state's presidential primary election.

As of now no opposition is in sight for the Reagan delegation.

NYC Teacher Strike Enters Third Week

NEW YORK (AP)—The Board of Education reopened schools with supervisors and volunteer workers today as the teachers' walkout entered its third school week, leaving New York's 1.1 million public school children without regular classes.

The board had shut down the schools last Thursday and Friday in expectation of a return to normal today.

As talks recessed at 1 a.m., today, both Schools Supt. Bernard E. Donovan and Albert Shanker, president of the 9,000-member AFL-CIO United Federation of Teachers, were slightly optimistic.

Negotiations, with the aid of mediators, resume at 9 a.m. It was announced Sunday that the 900 public schools would be open today.

At an outdoor rally Sunday, Shanker told some 7,000 teachers the oral agreement reached last Wednesday with the City Board of Education must be put in specific contract language and then approved by union members, adding: "The best way we have of getting back to work quicker is to make tomorrow (Monday) the best day we've ever had in this work stoppage."

The schools remained open on a token basis for the first week and a half of the walkout. By the middle of last week, attendance had dropped to less than a third of the enrollment. Classrooms were closed last Thursday and Friday, in anticipation of a return to work today.

Postmaster Charles H. Walters announced plans today for local celebration of Postal Services Day on Tues. Sept. 26. Patrons are invited to tour the post office from 9:30 a.m. through 4 p.m.

In addition to a number of events designed to tell of the vital role the Circleville Post Office plays, city carriers will dramatize the day by distributing kits made up of eight postal cards which will enable all residents to update their mailing lists by having "ZIP" codes added.

Each card will be sent to the post office which served the address needing a code. There, the proper five digit number will be added before the form is returned to the owner, Postmaster Walters explained. "No postage will be needed."

We feel that a day dedicated to the importance of the postal system in our growing city will be of considerable public value. Unfortunately, many of the services we offer today are little known to the public. We were prompted to announce the local observance of a day in which all patrons can become more intimately aware of the services provided by Circleville Post Office employees.

Locally the Circleville Post Office today serves approximately 18,000 people, with 30 employees. Mail volume has now reached a total of more than five million pieces annually.

We feel that this will be an appropriate time to call attention to the dedicated services of our employees, whose performance day in and day out is largely taken for granted, Walters said.

'Young Outsiders' Have Say At Church Leaders Conclave

SEATTLE (AP) — The young "outsiders" at the Episcopal Church's governing convention today had a beginning foothold on the inside—both formally and otherwise.

With their flowers, guitars, peace placards and syncretized prayers, they had won some official recognition, despite their unofficial status.

The House of Bishops agreed to listen.

The church's highest officer, presiding Bishop John E. Hines, showed up at one of the youth "happenings," and in between songs of brotherhood, jivey litanies and shared bread and wine, he told the variegated group: "You're helping show us the way to deal with things that really matter in the 20th century."

The affair, staged late Friday in a plaza outside the meeting halls of the convention, came as a sort of triumphant climax to a week of gentle youth prodding from the sidelines to get some institutional attention.

"We've been heard," said Sister Mary Thomas, an attractive, guitar-playing Episcopal nun in flowing white habit, a Cornell University graduate student. "People have listened, and that's what is so very important."

They were a mixed lot, black and white, nuns, young seminarians, civil rights workers, hippie types in long hair and beards as well as neat, neoclassical collegians.

"Love," their placards read. "Pax." And their lapel buttons carried such messages as "Would Christ carry a draft card?" "Kids are only newer people."

Area Grangers Attend State Conference

Four Pickaway County Grange Lecturers attended the first Ohio State Lecturers' Conference held Saturday at the Southern Hotel, Columbus.

Throughout the day the lecturers attended workshops on Program Building, Games and Music, and Ritualism. A very interesting session was in charge of the wife of the State Master, Mrs. Byron Frederick who spoke on "The Use and Securing of Publicity."

During the luncheon, at which the outstanding lecturers in Ohio were honored, the Ohio State Grange Chaplain, the Reverend Robert Wells, addressed the conference attendees.

The evening session was conducted by the State Master, Byron Frederick, who presented the Grange program for 1968, the theme being "A Proud Heritage Dedicated to the Future".

The evening address was delivered by Harry Caton, Secretary Emeritus of the National Grange.

Suggest Congress Study War Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress needs to take a formal look at U.S. policy in the Vietnam war, 50 House members suggested today.

The 46 Republicans and 4 Democrats proposed a resolution asking Congress to decide "whether further congressional action is desirable in respect to policies in Southeast Asia."

As they prepared their move: —Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, said Sunday he does not believe Soviet rejection of his for help in getting North Vietnam to the conference table has wrecked peace hopes.

—Sen. Karl Mundt, R-S.D., said Saturday night the United States indirectly told Red China several years ago it would face massive retaliation, including nuclear firepower, if it entered the war in Vietnam. The State Department said no one has been threatened and the White House declined comment on Mundt's remarks.

—Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., said Sunday night the Soviet Union might send pilots to fly the MIGs it is supplying North Vietnam.

—Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Automobile Workers, advocated a pause in bombing of North Vietnam "for a period until I think that we have done everything reasonably possible to exhaust the possibilities of new initiatives that might lead to the conference table."

Signers of the latest move in Congress to test U.S. policy in Vietnam range in political philosophy from conservative to liberal.

Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill., said: "This resolution arises, in my opinion, from deep-seated conviction that the Congress itself should deal at this time with questions of basic policy in regard to the Vietnam war. It provides the means through which the Congress can discharge responsibilities in foreign policy clearly placed upon it by the Constitution."

The resolution, if approved by the House and Senate, would call upon congressional committees to consider the questions and report their findings to the two branches.

day behind schedule—when the foreign affairs chiefs finally signed the resolution after long-winded debate in closed and open sessions.

To Venezuela, which called the conference after persistent Havana-backed terrorism in that country, the declaration was an "enormous satisfaction."

U.S. diplomats hailed the 20-tally as evidence of hemispheric solidarity against Castro. Only Mexico is the sole American republic which has maintained relations with the Havana regime since the OAS voted for a break in 1964.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk said: "Today the hemisphere is more unified than ever, more determined than ever to assure the peace, security and tranquility to which all of us aspire."

In most respects, the 15-point resolution breaks no new ground beyond recommendations made by the Inter-American body in past years.

Giant Scallop Bed Spotted Off Florida

COCOA, Fla. (AP) — Scientists report that the submarine used to locate a lost H-bomb off the coast of Spain has discovered a massive scallop bed off the east coast of Florida.

The scientists, of the U.S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, said Friday they explored 180 miles of scallop beds in the submarine Aluminat. They said their find stretches from St. Augustine to Fort Pierce and could support one of the biggest fisheries in the nation.

Teacher's Suit Heard by Jury

Mary Jane Funk Sues Westfall Board

A jury trial in which Mary Jane Funk, 947 Circle Drive, is seeking $8,800 in two years' salary from the Westfall Board of Education, got under way Monday in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court.

In her suit, Mrs. Funk contended the Westfall Board of Education had granted her a two-year contract to teach English for the 1964-65 and 1965-66 school terms. She maintains she was later told she could not teach because she did not have proper certification and a replacement was employed for the post previously given her.

Members of the jury seated this morning were: Paul Bowman, Betty Liston, Kathleen Jenkins, David Montgomery, Milton Manson, Evelyn Morrison, Walter Melvin, Harry Jasper, Irene White, Stelle O'Hara, Josephine Hardman, Charlotte Dearth, Helen Peters was seated as a 13th juror.

TESTIMONY was heard this morning from Judson Lanman, executive head of the Westfall District; Richard Funk, Mrs. Funk's husband and from Mrs. Funk.

Prior to the 1964-65 school year, Mrs. Funk had taught four years in the Westfall District. Subjects she had taught included home economics, girls' gym, English, speech and chemistry, according to her statement.

Mrs. Funk, who holds a college degree, was not granted certification to teach English for which she was employed because she had not completed the required number of college units.

According to her testimony, she was taking a course at Ohio University although it was not completed at the time she filed her application for temporary certification.

Raymond Reiterman was president of the Westfall Board of Education at the time the contract was given Mrs. Funk. Brice Connell was the clerk of the board.

Judson Lanman during his testimony today noted the board could not have paid Mrs. Funk until she was properly certified by the State Department of Education.

Mrs. Funk is represented by Emmitt Crist. Robert Huffer, Pickaway County prosecutor, is representing the Westfall Board of Education.

LBJ's Brother Injured

PASADENA, Md. (AP) — President Johnson's brother, Samuel H. Johnson, 53, was injured Sunday in a two-car accident in Pasadena.

He was listed in satisfactory condition.

'Young Outsiders' Have Say At Church Leaders Conclave

SEATTLE (AP) — The young "outsiders" at the Episcopal Church's governing convention today had a beginning foothold on the inside—both formally and otherwise.

With their flowers, guitars, peace placards and syncretized prayers, they had won some official recognition, despite their unofficial status.

The House of Bishops agreed to listen.

The church's highest officer, presiding Bishop John E. Hines, showed "at one of the youth 'happenings,' and in between songs of brotherhood, jivey litanies and shared bread and wine, he told the variegated group: "You're helping show us the way to deal with things that really matter in the 20th century."

The affair, staged late Friday in a plaza outside the meeting halls of the convention, came as a sort of triumphant climax to a week of gentle youth prodding from the sidelines to get some institutional attention.

"We've been heard," said Sister Mary Thomas, an attractive, guitar-playing Episcopal nun in flowing white habit, a Cornell University graduate student.

"People have listened, and that's what is so very important."

They were a mixed lot, black and white, nuns, young seminarians, civil rights workers, hippie types in long hair and beards as well as neat, neck-tied collegians.

"Love," their placards read. "Pax." And their lapel buttons carried such messages as "Would Christ carry a draft card?" "Kids are only newer people."

Four Pickaway County Grange Lecturers attended the first Ohio State Lecturers' Conference held Saturday at the Southern Hotel, Columbus.

Included in the over-100 registered Grangers throughout the state were: Mrs. Ralph Fisher, Scioto Valley Grange; Miss Thelma Hines, Nebraska Grange; Paul Dunkle, Salt Creek Valley Grange; and Russell Weidlich, past lecturer of Washington Grange.

During the luncheon, at which the outstanding lecturers in Ohio were honored, the Ohio State Grange Chaplain, the Reverend Robert Wells, addressed the conference attendees.

The evening session was conducted by the State Master, Byron Frederick, who presented the Grange program for 1968, the theme being "A Proud Heritage Dedicated to the Future."

The evening address was delivered by Harry Caton, Secretary Emeritus of the National Grange.

Suggest Congress Study War Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress needs to take a formal look at U.S. policy in the Vietnam war, 50 House members suggested today.

The 46 Republicans and 4 Democrats proposed a resolution asking Congress to decide "whether further congressional action is desirable in respect to policies in Southeast Asia."

As they prepared their move: —Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, said Sunday he does not believe Soviet rejection of his for help in getting North Vietnam to the conference table has wrecked peace hopes.

—Sen. Karl Mundt, R-S.D., said Saturday night the United States indirectly told Red China several years ago it would face massive retaliation, including nuclear firepower, if it entered the war in Vietnam. The State Department said no one has been threatened and the White House declined comment on Mundt's remarks.

—Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., said Sunday night the Soviet Union might send pilots to fly the MIGs it is supplying North Vietnam.

—Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Automobile Workers, advocated a pause in bombing of North Vietnam "for a period until I think that we have done everything reasonably possible to exhaust the possibilities of new initiatives that might lead to the conference table."

Signers of the latest move in Congress to test U.S. policy in Vietnam range in political philosophy from conservative to liberal.

Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill., said: "This resolution arises, in my opinion, from deep-seated conviction that the Congress itself should deal at this time with questions of basic policy in regard to the Vietnam war. It provides the means through which the Congress can discharge responsibilities in foreign policy clearly placed upon it by the Constitution."

The resolution, if approved by the House and Senate, would call upon congressional committees to consider the questions and report their findings to the two branches.

OAS Leaders

day behind schedule—when the foreign affairs chiefs finally signed the resolution after long-winded debate in closed and open sessions.

To Venezuela, which called the conference after persistent Havana-backed terrorism in that country, the declaration was an "enormous satisfaction."

U.S. diplomats hailed the 20-4 tally as evidence of hemisphere solidarity against Castro. Only Mexico is the sole American republic which has maintained relations with the Havana regime since the OAS voted for a break in 1964.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk said: "Today the hemisphere is more unified than ever, more determined than ever to assure the peace, security and tranquility to which all of us aspire."

In most respects, the 15-point resolution breaks no new ground beyond recommendations made by the Inter-American body in past years.

Phony 'Peace' Feelers

Once again "reliable sources" indicate that if the United States stopped bombing North Vietnam, talks between Hanoi and Washington could begin three or four weeks later.

This time the word came in a speech by North Vietnam Premier Pham Van Dong. The speech included a sentence that said: "If the American side really desires conversations, it should first cease unconditionally the bombings and every other act of war against the Democratic Republic of Vietnam."

The newest speculation on peace talks is not based upon what was included in that sentence, but what was not. Some observers seem to be impressed by the omission of the word "permanent" applied to Hanoi's demands for U. S. withdrawal of troops and cessation of the bombing.

Everyone would like to see an end to the war in Vietnam, and most Americans would be happy to endorse a cessation of the bombing if they were convinced it would bring the communists to the peace table for meaningful talks.

But there is good reason to be skeptical. What the North Vietnamese premier says in public is not necessarily what he is saying privately.

Real progress toward peace can only be made if the peace feelers that are constantly being put out through the U. S. government's various contacts are acknowledged by Hanoi.

When the communists are ready to discuss peace the State Department will hear of it and the necessary steps will be taken to create the proper atmosphere for peace talks.

Until this happens, it would be the height of idiocy to rely on false hopes from anything the Hanoi government says publicly, whether or not it is echoed by U Thant.

Man-Made Ice Age

A Colorado expert on atmospheric research has a hunch about the cause of the unusual cold summer in the Midwest this year.

It's because man's indiscriminate pollution of the air may be causing the earth's temperature to cool, believes Dr. James P. Lodge of the National Center for Atmospheric Research at Boulder. And if air pollution continues as it has, he warns, man may be setting off another ice age.

The obvious reaction is a hearty laugh. Those who enjoyed the mountain-air crispness of the summer may also be tempted to buck for more air pollution, not less.

Weathermen say the cool summer happened because of an unusual pattern of low and high pressures, which funneled cold arctic air over the plains. The area recorded one other summer even colder — back in 1915, when air pollution was far from being nationwide or as heavy as in 1967.

A final argument of scoffers might be that if pollutants brought on the chill, then Los Angeles and New York should already be far into the ice age.

Let's don't laugh too heartily, however. Chicago experienced a frightening smog the other day. Dr. Lodge says recent surveys reveal man-made air pollution has reached as far as the South Pole.

"The most crucial effect of the air pollution is that we are putting enough into the atmosphere so that we are changing the amount of sunlight reaching the earth," said Dr. Lodge. Prior to 1950, the earth's average temperature had been increasing gradually.

Since then it has fallen one-half of a degree. If present conditions escalate, we could be into the ice age within our children's lifetime, or by the year 2030.

Free Economy Spreads

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

VICHY, France — The Mont Pelerin Society of international economists, an organization that has greater fame in Europe than in America (former Chancellor Erhard of Germany and former President Einaudi of Italy were among its founders), has been carrying on its deliberations this year in the old capital of dismembered, wartime France. The enemies of the Mont Pelerians are the same as always: the planners who would force businessmen everywhere to carry out the dictates of the State, the inflationists who would pay for the mistakes of the politicians by debauching the currency, the neo-socialists who would nationalize the "commanding heights" of industry, the fake liberals who would substitute the tastes of a self-constituted elite for the tastes of the marketplace. And, as usual, the Mont Pelerians carry with them the air of an embattled minority.

Their sadness, which is the sadness of the old-style liberal everywhere, is understandable. The "economic miracle" of West Germany, which resulted from the application of Mont Pelerin free principles by Erhard when he was the economic mentor of the Bonn government, has reached a state of pause. England, which has just nationalized its steel industry for the second time, is faced with the worst unemployment since the Nineteen Thirties. De Gaulle is attempting to foist more and more compulsions on a French economy that has always had too much arbitrary top-down planning. And the United States, with its price level menaced by the huge costs of the Vietnamese War, is not in condition to help anyone.

Yet the Mont Pelerians have no real cause for complaint. What is good in Europe today is the result of the brave defense of the free economy which they put up immediately after World War II. I came over to Vichy from southern Germany with an engineer who builds tunnels in Switzerland. He is a German Swiss who commands a work battalion of Italians. The job he is doing with an out-of-state labor force makes Europe more and more open as the physical obstacles to north-south travel disappear. The Germans drive south to the sun and take over the Costa Brava in Spain; Italians and Yugoslavs move into France, Switzerland, and West Germany to do the hard labor. Customs barriers are down in the European Economic Community, and nobody really bothers to check travelers' luggage at the borders any more. West Europe, despite the emphasis on nationalism, is a free unit beyond the dreams of the Mont Pelerians as of 1948.

Moreover, despite the partisanship of socialist planning, it is going to become more, not less, free in the future. A year from now, as of July 1, 1968, the free movement of labor in the six countries of the European Common Market will be formalized as something of absolute individual right. What this means is that men will be able to move without the formality of work permits, where tie jobs are, with no questions asked.

If the movement of labor is free, and if customs barriers no longer exist, the nationalist planners who wish to impose their tastes on the community have two strikes against them. The effect on Italy, to take the hardest case among the Common Market nations, could be momentous. For the unemployment that has dogged Italy south of Rome could vanish with the emigration of even the most unskilled of the young.

The Mont Pelerians have not imposed a classical economic dogmatism on the thinking that guides the finance ministries of West Europe. But where Keynesian compensatory action is undertaken by the West German government, for example, it is done with an understanding that the individual business enterprise must retain its ability to make its own decisions. The Federal government at Bonn sets up a compensating fund at the Central Bank which can be run up in times of boom and run down in depression. During recessions an "investment bonus" may be granted to industry that is deductible from taxes. But the sales and investment strategies of business are respected.

So the Mont Pelerin haven't done badly. And this columnist, who has been a member of the society for some years, must bid his colleagues to be of good cheer. Who knows, they may even persuade the United States to adopt free economic principles before they are through.

Views on TV - Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer — NEW YORK (AP) — The Telephone Hour returned to prime evening time on NBC and its premiere show Friday night, "The Many Faces of Romeo and Juliet" which was rich and rewarding.

The hour was, in a way, a sort of stunt-it demonstrated how the lovers of Verona leaped from Shakespeare's pages into other art forms—ballet, opera and the Broadway musical stage. With Claire Bloom a beautiful, young Juliet and Jason Robards—far too mature—playing Romeo, the program opened with a reading of the balcony scene. The orchestra played Berlioz and Tchaikovsky music with the same theme.

Then Carla Fracci and Erik Bruhn danced the scene, followed by another interpretation in Gounod's opera, sung by Anna Moffo and Sando Konya. Finally there was Carol Lawrence and Larry Kert in a modern version, "West Side Story," with Leonard Bernstein's music.

ABC on Sunday night preempted its entire evening for a pair of programs it labeled "specials"—one being a three and one-half hour broadcast of the 1962 movie, "Mutiny on the Bounty." The other, earlier, was an ice skating show taped in Germany.

For most of us, one ice show looks pretty much like the next—the chorus of girl skaters, the athletic skating stars, the comedy skaters—and of course the comedian host. Jonathan Winters was the nonskating M.C. this time, and did about as well as other comedians in the spot.

The new head man of CBS's "Mission: Impossible"—Peter Graves who replaced Steven Hill this season—is much busier than his predecessor. Where Hill was principally the planner, Graves is an active participant. Sunday night's mission was built around the creation of an artificial earthquake and was a novel and ingenious story.

Recommended tonight: "The Danny Thomas Hour," NBC, 8-10 p.m. EDT. "The Scene," drama with Robert Stack and Geraldine Chaplin in her TV debut.

A TREMBLING hunter greeted with a shout of relief a man who emerged suddenly from the thickest spot of a dense forest. "Am I glad to see YOU!" gasped the hunter. "I've been lost in these woods for two whole days."

"Your joy is premature," said the other man wearily. "I've been lost for a week!"

Charles M. Schwab, first president of United States Steel—America's first billion-dollar corporation—irritated some of the country's more conservative bankers when he made headlines in 1902 by allegedly "breaking the bank at Monte Carlo." The size of his average wagers was greatly exaggerated by journalists of the day, but nevertheless, he expected a dressing-down from his—and everybody else's big boss—J. Pierpont Morgan, when he returned to New York. "I did indeed do some gambling at Monte Carlo," he admitted sheepishly to Mr. Morgan, "but I didn't do it, behind closed doors."

That's when the great J.P. made one of his most famous remarks. "But, Charlie," he pointed out. "That's what doors are for!"

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Has there ever been a vaccine against tuberculosis?

Many years ago two French scientists, Calmett and Guérin, created a vaccine known as BCG. It has been used, on and off, all over the world by many agencies—especially in underprivileged lands. Somehow there never has been universal and complete acceptance of the BCG vaccine for tuberculosis.

The vaccine at one time was recommended to doctors and nurses and hospital personnel who were in constant exposure to patients with tuberculosis. A sufficient number of cases of protection support the value of this vaccine, so that it still continues to be important in some areas.

The speed with which vaccines are now being created against vital diseases caused by bacteria and viruses indicates that the next 25 years will be a revolutionary period in the control of most severe infectious diseases, including tuberculosis.

What are the most common causes of dizziness?

It is said that there are almost as many causes of dizziness as there are people who complain about it. Dizziness is a symptom which is often confused with faintness, headache, or any pain above the shoulders.

Actual attacks of dizziness must only refer to a feeling in which a person stands still and objects rotate about him, or the reverse. Sometimes there is the sensation that objects are standing still and the person is turning or falling.

Diseases of the inner ear, motion in an airplane, automobile or boat, high or low blood pressure, diseases of the circulatory system, neurological disorders, Meniere's Disease, chronic infection of the mastoids, allergies and drugs are a partial list of the possible causes.

It is surprising how often people with low blood pressure have an attack of dizziness of short duration, perhaps a second or two, when they make a sudden, rapid change of position. If these people allow themselves an extra few minutes before jumping out of bed and tying their shoes, or gently adjust themselves to a new position, these quick episodes of momentary dizziness may not occur.

There now are many types of examination, including hearing studies, that can help the physician come to a conclusion as to the exact nature of the real or assumed dizziness.

Any series of repeated attacks of dizziness deserves a complete and thorough investigation. People who have the unpleasant feeling of dizziness become panicky, fearful that an attack may come on them when they are alone, driving their car, or while crossing the street.

The simple causes for dizziness far outweigh the serious one. People who are fearful that they have a real or complicated problem should not delay going to their doctor because they imagine it is a serious one when more likely it is a simple one.

Don't forget to tell your doctor if you are allergic to any drug.

According to Boyle

By HAL COOPER (For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP) — Well, it's enough to make you antinuclear. Because, after all, if the United Federation of Teachers doesn't call this strike against the New York school system, it never happens.

No strike, and Public School No. 44 will be open. If No. 44 is open, Jeffrey, aged 11, will be in class instead of putting his trousers on at 10 a.m. And if Jeffrey is not putting his trousers on at 10 a.m., what occurs does not occur.

First word of what has taken place comes in the form of a telephone call to the office from Jeffrey's brother, Nick, aged 10.

"Daddy," says Nick, "Jeffrey is in trouble. He was putting his pants on and, you know, something happened which is a man problem. That's why we didn't call Mommy at the university."

"It involves the zipper?" "Yes, Daddy. We've tried everything but it's no good. Jeffrey is being very brave, but

"Hold everything. Daddy will be home cabwise forthwith." The cab delivers Daddy at the apartment house in Manhattan and it is quickly evident that this is a contretemps which will require professional assistance.

So a telephone call is made to the family doctor.

"Oh, my goodness," says the family doctor. "Brings the poor little fellow over immediately."

After a somewhat tiresome interlude a cab is captured and the trip is made to the doctor's lair on Central Park West.

"Hmm," says the doctor. "You don't particularly care what happens to the pants?"

"No, doctor. The important thing is to release the captive." "Very well. Now, you take the right-hand side of the zipper and I'll take the left—and there we go! All right, Jeffrey?"

"Yes, doctor, and thank you," says Jeffrey, being brave.

Jeffrey, Nick and Daddy then repair back to the apartment building in a cab and another day in the life of a bunch of born losers is history.

We do not know how much money the United Federation of Teachers may have, but we sincerely hope it is plenty. Because we are going to sue them for every dime they own, unless we cool off quite a few degrees in the near future.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW

Editors—This is the first of several articles on the ancient but never-ending contest between the president and Congress over how much say each should have in foreign affairs. The contest is being revived by some senators dissatisfied with U.S. policy in Vietnam who seek a stronger Senate voice in foreign affairs.

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—If President Johnson thinks he has it bad, he should have seen what happened to the first president. George Washington got so fed up with abuse, not for getting the country into a war but for trying to keep it out of one, he said he'd rather be dead.

That was the start of the American game of heckling presidents over foreign policy but few have been hit harder than Johnson for the war in Vietnam. His critics are a mixed lot of doves who want a softer war or none and hawks who want a tougher one.

One of the most critical doves, Sen. J. W. Fulbright, has come up with a plan for clipping Johnson's wings, although he says it isn't meant to. But the resolution the Arkansas Democrat proposed in the Senate speaks for itself.

It would give the Senate a lot more say in foreign affairs than the Constitution provides and, therefore, Johnson less. If the Senate approves the resolution, Johnson can ignore it, and probably will, since it does not have the effect of law. But ignoring it would irritate the critics even more.

While Fulbright's move reflects dissatisfaction with Johnson's role in the dragged-out war in Vietnam, it's just one more play in the old and endless struggle between the White House and Congress over which has the right to do what in foreign affairs.

Its roots are in the Founding Fathers' vagueness. They were muddle-headed, inexperienced and superficial in foreign affairs when they laid down the rules for the new government in the Constitution of 1787.

After their resentments and frustrations with the British royal governors in Colonial days, they were bent on separating the powers of the various branches of the new government through checks and balances.

But, while they were almost four months debating everything else, they spent only a small part of three days on future foreign problems and then didn't seem to think any further than treaty-making. This was one of the most loosely drawn sections in the Constitution.

This is about all it said: While only Congress can declare war, the president is commander-in-chief of the armed forces and can make treaties with the "advice and consent" of the Senate, provided two-thirds of the Senators agree. The struggle has been going on ever since over all the things left unsaid.

The founders didn't raise or answer questions like these: Can a president make a decision in foreign affairs without first consulting Congress? Presidents have done so. Can a president send troops into war in a foreign country without a formal declaration of war by Congress, as Johnson did in Vietnam? Other presidents besides Johnson have done so.

Washington was the first to run into the rumpus over questions like those because he was the first president who felt he had to make a foreign decision without consulting Congress. This was in 1793 when France and England went to war and he wanted to keep the young and feeble United States out of it.

Congress was not in session, yet he thought he needed to act fast. But did he have a right to, since the Constitution was silent on such a problem? He took a chance, consulted his cabinet, and announced the United States would stay neutral. The roof fell in.

He was denounced, reviled and ridiculed for doing what some thought only Congress had a right to do, although the Constitution didn't say the right belonged to Congress, either. Pro-English Americans wanted to line up with the British; pro-French Americans wanted to line up with the French.

Johnson has been plagued and besieged by antiwar-in-Vietnam demonstrators. Washington got the same treatment from anti-neutrality demonstrators, but worse. Vice President John Adams wrote later that mobs by the thousands stormed through Philadelphia, threatening to drag Washington out of his house and start a new revolution.

It was at this time Washington said he'd rather be dead. But just then a yellow fever epidemic swept Philadelphia and Adams thought later this was the only thing that saved Washington. In the end Congress, a year later, backed up the new president by passing a Neutrality Act.

DEMONSTRATORS FIGHT FOR PEACE—Women peace marchers protesting the war in Vietnam struggle with Washington police in front of the White House as more than the 100 pickets permitted tried to join in the march.

Phony 'Peace' Feelers

Once again "reliable sources" indicate that if the United States stopped bombing North Vietnam, talks between Hanoi and Washington could begin three or four weeks later.

This time the word came in a speech by North Vietnam Premier Pham Van Dong. The speech included a sentence that said: "If the American side really desires conversations, it should first cease unconditionally the bombings and every other act of war against the Democratic Republic of Vietnam."

The newest speculation on peace talks is not based upon what was included in that sentence, but what was not. Some observers seem to be impressed by the omission of the word "permanent" applied to Hanoi's demands for U. S. withdrawal of troops and cessation of the bombing.

Everyone would like to see an end to the war in Vietnam, and most Americans would be happy to endorse a cessation of the bombing if they were convinced it would bring the communists to the peace table for meaningful talks.

But there is good reason to be skeptical. What the North Vietnamese premier says in public is not necessarily what he is saying privately.

Real progress toward peace can only be made if the peace feelers that are constantly being put out through the U. S. government's various contacts are acknowledged by Hanoi.

When the communists are ready to discuss peace the State Department will hear of it and the necessary steps will be taken to create the proper atmosphere for peace talks.

Until this happens, it would be the height of idiocy to rely on false hopes from anything the Hanoi government says publicly, whether or not it is echoed by U Thant.

Man-Made Ice Age

A Colorado expert on atmospheric research has a hunch about the cause of the unusual cold summer in the Midwest this year.

It's because man's indiscriminate pollution of the air may be causing the earth's temperature to cool, believes Dr. James P. Lodge of the National Center for Atmospheric Research at Boulder. And if air pollution continues as it has, he warns, man may be setting off another ice age.

The obvious reaction is a hearty laugh. Those who enjoyed the mountain-air crispness of the summer may also be tempted to buck for more air pollution, not less.

Weathermen say the cool summer happened because of an unusual pattern of low and high pressures, which funneled cold arctic air over the plains. The area recorded one other summer even colder — back in 1915, when air pollution was far from being nationwide or as heavy as in 1967.

A final argument of scoffers might be that if pollutants brought on the chill, then Los Angeles and New York should already be far into the ice age.

Let's not laugh too heartily, however. Chicago experienced a frightening smog the other day. Dr. Lodge says recent surveys reveal man-made air pollution has reached as far as the South Pole.

"The most crucial effect of the air pollution is that we are putting enough into the atmosphere so that we are changing the amount of sunlight reaching the earth," said Dr. Lodge. Prior to 1950, the earth's average temperature had been increasing gradually.

Since then it has fallen one-half of a degree. If present conditions escalate, we could be into the ice age within our children's lifetime, or by the year 2030.

Free Economy Spreads

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

VICHY, France — The Mont Pelerin Society of international economists, an organization that has greater fame in Europe than in America (former Chancellor Erhard of Germany and former President Einaudi of Italy were among its founders), has been carrying on its deliberations this year in the old capital of dismembered, wartime France. The enemies of the Mont Pelerians are the same as always: the planners who would force businessmen everywhere to carry out the dictates of the State, the inflationists who would pay for the mistakes of the politicians by debauching the currency, the neo-socialists who would nationalize the "commanding heights" of industry, the fake liberals who would substitute the tastes of a self-constituted elite for the tastes of the marketplace. And, as usual, the Mont Pelerians carry with them the air of an embattled minority.

Their sadness, which is the sadness of the old-style liberal everywhere, is understandable. The "economic miracle" of West Germany, which resulted from the application of Mont Pelerin free principles by Erhard when he was the economic mentor of the Bonn government, has reached a state of pause. England, which has just nationalized its steel industry for the second time, is faced with the second unemployment since the Nineteen Thirties. De Gaulle is attempting to foist more and more compulsions on a French economy that has always had too much arbitrary top-down planning. And the United States, with its price level menaced by the huge costs of the Vietnamese War, is not in condition to help anyone.

Yet the Mont Pelerians have no real cause for complaint. What is good in Europe today is the result of the brave defense of the free economy which they put up immediately after World War II. I came over to Vichy from southern Germany with an engineer who builds tunnels in Switzerland. He is a German Swiss who commands a work battalion of Italians. The job he is doing with an out-of-state labor force makes Europe more and more open as the physical obstacles to north-south travel disappear. The Germans drive south to the sun and take over the Costa Brava in Spain; Italians and Yugoslavs move into France, Switzerland, and West Germany to do the hard labor. Customs barriers are down in the European Economic Community, and nobody really bothers to check travelers' luggage at the borders any more. West Europe, despite the emphasis on nationalism, is a free unit beyond the dreams of the Mont Pelerians as of 1948.

Moreover, despite the partisanship of socialist planning, it is free to become more, not less, free in the future. A year from now, as of July 1, 1968, the free movement of labor in the six countries of the European Common Market will be formalized as something of absolute individual right. What this means is that men will be able to move without the formality of work permits, where the jobs are, with no questions asked.

If the movement of labor is free, and if customs barriers no longer exist, the nationalist planners who wish to impose their tastes on the community have two strikes against them. The effect on Italy, to take the hardest case among the Common Market nations, could be momentous. For the unemployment that has dogged Italy south of Rome could vanish with the emigration of even the most unskilled of the young.

The Mont Pelerians have not imposed a classical economic dogmatism on the thinking that guides the finance ministries of West Europe. But where Keynesian compensatory action is undertaken by the West German government, for example, it is done with an understanding that the individual business enterprise must retain its ability to make its own decisions. The Federal government at Bonn sets up a compensating fund at the Central Bank which can be run up in times of boom and run down in depression. During recessions an "investment bonus" may be granted to industry that is deductible from taxes. But the sales and investment strategies of business are respected.

So the Mont Pelerians haven't done badly. And this columnist, who has been a member of the society for some years, must bid his colleagues to be of good cheer. Who knows, they may even persuade the United States to adopt free economic principles before they are through.

NEW YORK (AP) — The Telephone Hour returned to prime evening time on NBC and its premiere show Friday night, "The Many Faces of Romeo and Juliet" which was rich and rewarding.

The hour was, in a way, a sort of stunt-it demonstrated how the lovers of Verona leaped from Shakespeare's pages into other art forms—ballet, opera and the Broadway musical stage. With Claire Bloom a beautiful, young Juliet and Jason Robards—far too mature—playing Romeo, the program opened with a reading of the balcony scene. The orchestra played Berlioz and Tchaikovsky music with the same theme.

Then Carla Fracci and Erik Bruhn danced the scene, followed by another interpretation in Gounod's opera, sung by Anna Moffo and Sando Konya. Finally there was Carol Lawrence and Larry Kert in a modern version, "West Side Story," with Leonard Bernstein's music. ABC on Sunday night preempted its entire evening for a pair of programs it labeled "specials"—one being a three and one-half hour broadcast of the 1962 movie, "Mutiny on the Bounty." The other, earlier, was an ice skating show taped in Germany.

For most of us, one ice show looks pretty much like the next—the chorus of girl skaters, the athletic skating stars, the comedy skaters—and of course the comedian host. Jonathan Winters was the nonskating M.C. this time, and did about as well as other comedians in the spot.

The head man of CBS' "Mission: Impossible"—Peter Graves who replaced Steven Hill this season—is much busier than his predecessor. Where Hill was principally the planner, Graves is an active participant. Sunday night's mission was built around the creation of an artificial earthquake and was a novel and ingenious story.

Speaking of Your Health

Has there ever been a vaccine against tuberculosis?

Many years ago two French scientists, Calmett and Guérin, created a vaccine known as BCG. It has been used, on and off, all over the world by many agencies—especially in underprivileged lands. Somehow there never has been universal and complete acceptance of the BCG vaccine for tuberculosis.

The vaccine at one time was recommended to doctors and nurses and hospital personnel who were in constant exposure to patients with tuberculosis. A sufficient number of cases of protection support the value of this vaccine, so that it still continues to be important in some areas.

The speed with which vaccines are now being created against vital diseases caused by bacteria and viruses indicates that the next 25 years will be a revolutionary period in the control of most severe infectious diseases, including tuberculosis.

What are the most common causes of dizziness?

It is said that there are almost as many causes of dizziness as there are people who complain about it. Dizziness is a symptom which is often confused with faintness, headache, or any pain above the shoulders. Actual attacks of dizziness must only refer to a feeling in which a person stands still and objects rotate about him, or the reverse. Sometimes there is the sensation that objects are standing still and the person is turning or falling.

Diseases of the inner ear, motion in an airplane, automobile or boat, high or low blood pressure, diseases of the circulatory system, neurological disorders, Meniere's Disease, chronic infection of the mastoids, allergies and drugs are a partial list of the possible causes.

It is surprising how often people with low blood pressure have an attack of dizziness of short duration, perhaps a second or two, when they make a sudden, rapid change of position. If these people allow themselves an extra few minutes before jumping out of bed and tying their shoes, or gently adjust themselves to a new position, these quick episodes of momentary dizziness may not occur.

There now are many types of examination, including hearing studies, that can help the physician come to a conclusion as to the exact nature of the real or assumed dizziness.

Any series of repeated attacks of dizziness deserves a complete and thorough investigation. People who have the unpleasant feeling of dizziness become panicky, fearful that an attack may come on them when they are alone, driving their car, or while crossing the street.

The simple causes for dizziness far outweigh the serious one. People who are fearful that they have a real or complicated problem should not delay going to their doctor because they imagine it is a serious one when more likely it is a simple one.

Don't forget to tell your doctor if you are allergic to any drug.

NEW YORK (AP) — Well, it's enough to make you antinuclear. Because, after all, if the United Federation of Teachers doesn't call this strike against the New York school system, it never happens.

No strike, and Public School No. 44 will be open. If No. 44 is open, Jeffrey, aged 11, will be in class instead of putting his trousers on at 10 a.m. And if Jeffrey is not putting his trousers on at 10 a.m., what occurs does not occur.

First word of what has taken place comes in the form of a telephone call to the office from Jeffrey's brother, Nick, aged 10.

"Daddy," says Nick, "Jeffrey is in trouble. He was putting his pants on and, you know, something happened which is a man problem. That's why we didn't call Mommy at the university."

"It involves the zipper?"

"Yes, Daddy. We've tried everything but it's no good. Jeffrey is being very brave, but

"Hold everything. Daddy will be home cabwise forthwith."

The cab delivers Daddy at the apartment house in Manhattan and it is quickly evident that this is a contretemps which will require professional assistance.

So a telephone call is made to the family doctor.

"Oh, my goodness," says the family doctor. "Brings the poor little fellow over immediately."

After a somewhat tiresome interlude a cab is captured and the trip is made to the doctor's lair on Central Park West.

"Hm," says the doctor.

"You don't particularly care what happens to the pants?"

"No, doctor. The important thing is to release the captive."

"Very well. Now, you take the right-hand side of the zipper and I'll take the left and—there we go! All right, Jeffrey?"

"Yes, doctor, and thank you," says Jeffrey, being brave.

Jeffrey, Nick and Daddy then repair back to the apartment building in a cab and another day in the life of a bunch of born losers is history.

We do not know how much money the United Federation of Teachers may have, but we sincerely hope it is plenty. Because we are going to sue them for every dime they own, unless we cool off quite a few degrees in the near future.

Editors—This is the first of several articles on the ancient but never-ending contest between the president and Congress over how much say each should have in foreign affairs. The contest is being revived by some senators dissatisfied with U.S. policy in Vietnam who seek a stronger Senate voice in foreign affairs.

WASHINGTON (AP)—If President Johnson thinks he has it bad, he should have seen what happened to the first president. George Washington got so fed up with abuse, not for getting the country into a war but for trying to keep it out of one, he said he'd rather be dead.

That was the start of the American game of heckling presidents over foreign policy but few have been hit harder than Johnson for the war in Vietnam. His critics are a

Early or Late, Mate Should Call

DEAR ABBY: Like so many others, I never thought I'd be writing a DEAR ABBY letter, but here I am.

When my husband calls and says he's going to be late because he's going out with his boss, don't you think he should call me if he knows he is going to be detained longer than he said he would? When I complained because he said he's be home about 10 p.m. but he came in at 2 a.m., he said, "Your're not my mother! What am I supposed to do, get up and say, 'I have to call my wife'—like a child calls his mother?" Abby, I just want to be sure he's not in a hospital, a ditch or jail. I trust him concerning other women, but because I was very jealous before we were married, he thinks I still am. I really do trust him, but don't you think a husband should call his wife to let her know he's going to be later than he says he'll be?

DALLAS WIFE
DEAR WIFE: Yes. (And he should let her know if he's going to be early, also.)

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter, Rene, was to have been married in four weeks to Max who is in the army.

Plans for the wedding had been completed. The bridesmaids had bought their dresses, and the wedding invitations were ready to be mailed. Two showers had already been given for Rene, and she received many lovely gifts.

Then Ma called and said his orders had been changed and he was being shipped to Vietnam for a year. Max then said that he had decided to wait until after Vietnam to be married.

Abby, Rene and Max are very much in love and they say that nothing short of a catastrophe will prevent the wedding next year. Under the circumstances should the shower gifts be returned? What about the bridesmaids who paid for their dresses? Max and his parents decided to postpone the wedding without even consulting Rene and her parents. Do you think that was right? It seems that the bride's parents should have had something to say about it.

Finished Steel Accumulating In Warehouses

CLEVELAND (AP) — Steel mills and service centers have been severely hit by the work stoppage of owner-operator truckers, Steel Magazine said today.

The metalworking weekly said this has resulted in "such serious interference with truck movements that finished steel tonnage has backed up alarmingly in mill warehouses and service centers throughout the Midwest."

Raw steel production was down 19,000 tons last week to 2.45 million net tons, the first decline in five weeks, Steel said.

Mill executives say a sharp cutback in raw steelmaking is possible within 10 days unless normal trucking is quickly resumed, Steel said, adding:

"Most producers of steel are geared to truck shipment—especially of coiled strip. Although shipments have been diverted to rail transport where feasible, the slack has not been fully taken up."

"For one thing," Steel continued, "many consumers do not have rail sidings. For another, some railroad equipment shortages have been encountered."

Steel companies in Ohio and Pennsylvania have already announced production cutbacks and expected layoffs.

The magazine said that so far the impact of the auto workers strike against Ford Motor Co. "has been minimal" as regards work stoppage on steel production.

The magazine predicted the fourth quarter could be the year's best if the trucking strike ends soon, adding there has been a steady flow of new orders, with an improvement in demand for hot and cold rolled sheets and light structurals.

Demand for steelmaking scrap continued sluggish, Steel said, with its composite price on No. 1 heavy melting grade scrap remaining at $28.17 a gross ton.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Early or Late, Mate Should Call

DEAR ABBY: Like so many others, I never thought I'd be writing a DEAR ABBY letter, but here I am.

When my husband calls and says he's going to be late because he's going out with his boss, don't you think he should call me if he knows he is going to be detained longer than he said he would? When I complained because he said he's be home about 10 p.m. but he came in at 2 a.m., he said, "You're not my mother! What am I supposed to do, get up and say, 'I have to call my wife'—like a child calls his mother?" Abby, I just want to be sure he's not in a hospital, a ditch or jail. I trust him concerning other women, but because I was very jealous before we were married, he thinks I still am. I really do trust him, but don't you think a husband should call his wife to let her know he's going to be later than he says he'll be?

DALLAS WIFE
DEAR WIFE: Yes. (And he should let her know if he's going to be early, also.)

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter, Rene, was to have been married in four weeks to Max who is in the army.

Plans for the wedding had been completed. The bridesmaids had bought their dresses, and the wedding invitations were ready to be mailed. Two showers had already been given for Rene, and she received many lovely gifts.

Then Ma called and said his orders had been changed and he was being shipped to Vietnam for a year. Max then said that he had decided to wait until after Vietnam to be married.

Abby, Rene and Max are very much in love and they say that nothing short of a catastrophe will prevent the wedding next year. Under the circumstances should the shower gifts be returned? What about the bridesmaids who paid for their dresses? Max and his parents decided to postpone the wedding without even consulting Rene and her parents. Do you think that was right? It seems that the bride's parents should have had something to say about it.

PLANS SPOILED
DEAR PLANS: Max should have given Rene an opportunity

Finished Steel Accumulating In Warehouses

CLEVELAND (AP) — Steel mills and service centers have been severely hit by the work stoppage of owner-operator truckers, Steel Magazine said today.

The metalworking weekly said this has resulted in "such serious interference with truck movements that finished steel tonnage has backed up alarmingly in mill warehouses and service centers throughout the Midwest."

Raw steel production was down 19,000 tons last week to 2.45 million net tons, the first decline in five weeks, Steel said.

Mill executives say a sharp cutback in raw steelmaking is possible within 10 days unless normal trucking is quickly resumed, Steel said, adding:

"Most producers of steel are geared to truck shipment—especially of coiled strip. Although shipments have been diverted to rail transport where feasible, the slack has not been fully taken up."

"For one thing," Steel continued, "many consumers do not have rail sidings. For another, some railroad equipment shortages have been encountered."

Steel companies in Ohio and Pennsylvania have already announced production cutbacks and expected layoffs.

The magazine said that so far the impact of the auto workers strike against Ford Motor Co. "has been minimal" as regards work stoppage on steel production.

The magazine predicted the fourth quarter could be the year's best if the trucking strike ends soon, adding there has been a steady flow of new orders, with an improvement in demand for hot and cold rolled sheets and light structurals.

Demand for steelmaking scrap continued sluggish, Steel said, with its composite price on No. 1 heavy melting grade scrap remaining at $28.17 a gross ton.

College Grid Picture Turns; 2 Leaders Fall

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

There's a decided new look to the young college football season today—Michigan State trampled, Alabama tied by a three-touchdown underdog, and the West Coast powers suddenly in a position to challenge mighty Notre Dame for No. 1.

And, too, there's upstart Houston, suddenly thrust into the spotlight on the strength of a fantastic 37-7 rout of Duffy Daugherty's Michigan State crew, ranked third nationally going into the game and all-winning in 1966.

"It's been a long time since we've taken our lumps like that," a subdued Daugherty said after the stunning reversal of form in Michigan State's opener. "But I've seen sicker cats get well."

But Alabama's Bear Bryant couldn't be even that optimistic after his second-ranked Crimson Tide was tied 37-37 by surprising Florida State in their opener.

"This is the weakest defensive team I've ever put on the field," he said. "Everything about the defense was poor. They've forgotten what it takes to play defense."

Of the top three, only Notre Dame won, an easy 41-8 opening triumph over California.

Coach Ara Parseghian had words of praise for quarterback Terry Hanratty. "He ran the ball club well, he hit his targets and he ran with the ball well"—but otherwise wasn't very pleased.

"We dropped far too many passes. Our defensive line is green yet. We have lots of work to do."

West Coast powers Southern California and UCLA turned in impressive victories, the second straight for each. No. 4 Southern Cal. operating behind quarterback Steve Sogge, held off fifth-ranked Texas 17-13, and sixth-ranked UCLA, with Gary Beban and Greg Jones again starring, crushed Pittsburgh 40-5.

No. 7 Georgia opened with a 30-0 shutout of Mississippi State and No. 9 Colorado edged Oregon State 17-13, but eight-ranked Miami, Fla., was upset by Northwestern 12-7.

Some other major upsets included Memphis State's 27-17 decision over Mississippi, Oklahoma State's 7-6 verdict over Arkansas and Navy's 23-22 thriller over Penn State.

little or no action in the game the night before.

Saturday, the little Tigers play at Greenfield.

Behind Lanman in the figure eight were George Branscom of Chillicothe and George Steely of Circleville.

Dick French of Chillicothe won the consolation race.

College Grid Picture Turns; 2 Leaders Fall

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

There's a decided new look to the young college football season today—Michigan State trampled Alabama tied by a three-touchdown underdog and the West Coast powers suddenly in a position to challenge mighty Notre Dame for No. 1.

And, too, there's upstart Houston, suddenly thrust into the spotlight on the strength of a fantastic 37-7 rout of Duffy Daugherty's Michigan State crew, ranked third nationally going into the game and all-winning in 1966.

"It's been a long time since we've taken our lumps like that," a subdued Daugherty said after the stunning reversal of form in Michigan State's opener. "But I've seen sicker cats get well."

But Alabama's Bear Bryant couldn't be even that optimistic after his second-ranked Crimson Tide was tied 37-37 by surprising Florida State in their opener.

"This is the weakest defensive team I've ever put on the field," he said. "Everything about the defense was poor. They've forgotten what it takes to play defense."

Of the top three, only Notre Dame won, an easy, 41-8 opening triumph over California.

Coach Ara Parseghian had words of praise for quarterback Terry Hanratty—"He ran the ball club well, he hit his targets and he ran with the ball well"—but otherwise wasn't very pleased.

"We dropped far too many passes. Our defensive line is green yet. We have lots of work to do."

West Coast powers Southern California and UCLA turned in impressive victories, the second straight for each. No. 4 Southern Cal. operating behind quarterback Steve Sogge, held off fifth-ranked Texas 17-13, and sixth-ranked UCLA, with Gary Beban and Greg Jones again starring, crushed Pittsburgh 40-5.

No. 7 Georgia opened with a 30-0 shutout of Mississippi State. No. 9 Colorado edged Oregon State 17-13, but eight-ranked Miami, Fla., was upset by Northwestern 12-7.

Some other major upsets included Memphis State's 27-17 decision over Mississippi, Oklahoma State's 7-6 verdict over Arkansas and Navy's 23-22 thriller over Penn State.

little or no action in the game the night before.

Saturday, the little Tigers play at Greenville.

Stump Wins Feature at Speedway

Don Stump of Whisler rolled to a win in the 20 lap oval feature race at Pickaway Speedway Saturday night, while Jim Lanman of Circleville copped the 20 lap figure eight event.

Finishing second in the oval feature was Norm Smith. Stony Asbury of Dayton was third. Asbury also won the trophy dash at the speedway.

Behind Lanman in the figure eight were George Branscom of Chillicothe and George Steely of Circleville.

Heat winners were Larry Speakman, Larry Miller and George Steely, all of Circleville and Stony Asbury of Dayton.

Dick French of Chillicothe won the consolation race.

The fastest qualifying lap was turned by Norm Smith of Springfield.

Viking Frosh Win, 22-6

The Teays Valley freshman football squad defeated Hamilton Twp. frosh, 22-6, Saturday in a game played on the Viking Field.

Scott Barr passed for two touchdowns, the Vikings scored on a safety and a fumble was recovered in the Hamilton End zone for the third TD.

Barr's first pass was a 40 yard completion to Ron Crosby just before the first half ended. His second came in the third quarter. The pass play covered 30 yards, Dick Garren was the receiver.

Bob Tucker tackled a Hamilton halfback in the end zone, also in the third quarter for the safety. The final TD came when Jeff Helsler fell on a loose ball in the end zone. Van Gregg ran for the extra points.

For Hamilton, Bob Jones ran 65 yards to score in the fourth period. Saturday the Viking frosh host Fairfield Union at 10 a.m.

Atlanta Readies For Golf Tourney

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Golf's touring pros, trekking into Indian summer, shoot for a top prize of $22,000 this week in the $115,000 Atlanta Golf Classic, the first major tournament in Georgia's capital city in nine years.

Most of the big-name golfers, with the exception of Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, are among the more than 200 players entered in the tournament, which will be trimmed to 150 after a qualifying round today. Palmer and Nicklaus have commitments in Japan.

Bills Suffer First Shutout; Boston Elated

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Nance has had a better day, but Boston Coach Mike Holovak says his Patriots never have.

Nance piled up an awesome total of 185 yards in 34 carries Sunday, leading Boston to a surprising 23-0 victory over Buffalo, the first shutout the Bills have suffered in 137 American Football League games.

Nance's best day? The league's 1966 Player of the Year gained 208 yards against Oakland last year. But his performance Sunday was enough to get him the game ball and to get Holovak thinking in terms of superlatives.

"It was our best game," the Boston pilot said succinctly. "We didn't have any interceptions or fumbles, and the Bills still are the toughest club in the league defensively."

In their first three games, all defeats, the Patriots fumbled five times and had 11 passes intercepted. Now their thoughts are rambling back to last season when, after a bad start, a victory over the Bills sparked them to six more triumphs and second place in the Eastern Division.

In other AFL games Sunday, New York beat Denver 38-24, Kansas City blanked Miami 24-0 and San Diego upended Houston 13-3.

In the NFL, San Francisco pounded Atlanta 38-7, Baltimore bombed Philadelphia 38-6, Green Bay survived Chicago 13-10, Detroit crushed Cleveland 31-14, Dallas topped New York 38-2, St. Louis beat Pittsburgh 28-14 and Washington smothered New Orleans 30-10.

Jim Namater had a marvelous day for the Jets, completing 22 of 37 passes for 399 yards and two touchdowns. Emerson Boozer ran the three touchdown.

Also impressive about Namath's performance was the fact that in the second period the Broncos had a 24-7 lead.

Mike Garrett gained 133 yards in 20 carries for the Chiefs and caught a 34-yard scoring toss from Len Dawson. Otis Taylor caught a Dawson pass for a 57-yard scoring play.

Dick Van Raaphorst kicked a pair of field goals and Lance Alworth made a leaping catch of a pass from John Hadl for a 44-yard touchdown for the Chargers. Alworth caught 10 passes altogether, good for 121 yards.

Kent, OU Duel Is Toss-up; Both Saturday Winners

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Will the real Kent State University football team please stand up?

That should be the question this coming Saturday as Kent State and Ohio University clash in the first televised football game in Mid-American Conference history. Tye set will be Ohio's Peden Stadium.

The Golden Flashes will be mystery guests, judging from their first two games. They flopped in their season opener, losing 30-6 to Buffalo, but flipped impressively with a 35-0 victory over Northern Illinois this past Saturday.

Ohio University's Bobcats also won big, belting Marshall 48-14 on the last Saturday of the year when the other Ohio colleges don't have to play in the shadow of big brother Ohio State. The Bobcat victory gave OU sole possession of first place in the MAC race, with a 2-0 record.

Kent State, rated a title contender along with Ohio, got two touchdowns passes from Ron Swartz and 92 yards gained from Billy Blunt in its home opener.

Ohio U. quarterback Cleve Bryant exploded with three touchdown pitches in the rout of Marshall. Dick Conley ran for 125 of the Bobcats' 429 total yardage, while he and Jay Maupin had two TDs each.

More than 20,000 fans in Cincinnati saw Dayton's Flyers win their second straight and spoil Homer Rice's coaching debut with a 27-13 beating of Cincinnati's Bearcats. A strong Flyer running game led by Billy Mayo and Mel Taylor totaled 390 yards. Cincinnati's Tony Jackson thrilled the crowd with a 78-yard punt return touchdown run.

Three other Mid-American teams—Bowling Green, Miami and Toledo—joined Kent in scoring impressive nonconference victories, and Wittenberg's 21-0 shutout of Muskingum gave it an early upper hand in the Ohio Conference race.

Bowling Green opened up in the second half to score a 29-0 win over Quantico Marines, with several sophomores breaking in big. Bob Zimpfer, with a 62-yard punt return, and Rick Perrin, with a 56-yard run with an interception, were among the BeeGee sophs who sparked and scored.

Miami surprised Tulane 14-3 in a Sugar Bowl upset. Defensive end Tim Fortney recovered a Tulane fumble late in the game to set up the second and clinching Redskin touchdown. Toledo belted Xavier 24-7, with junior running backs Bob Pfefferle and Roland Moss streaking for touchdowns on runs of 46 and 36 yards, respectively.

Wittenberg's victory at Muskingum stopped a 19-game Muskie winning streak in the conference. Tiger quarterback Gene Laughman was in mid-season form in the opener for both teams, pitching TD passes to Denny Staver, Bob Harvey and Rod Miller.

Fullback Tony Moro's 85-yard touchdown run before a crowd of 38,267 fans in Akron's Rubber Bowl gave Akron its 6-0 win over tough Tampa.

Elsewhere, Capital beat Mount Union 16-0, Centre downed Kenyon 33-7, Ashland dumped Otterbein 31-7, Ohio Northern beat Kalamazoo 24-8, Heidelberg nipped Grove City 16-15, Hiram edged Oberlin 16-14, Wooster beat Carnegie Tech 21-18, California State (Pa.) beat Marietta 35-26, Denison edged Rochester 14-12, Ohio Wesleyan and Albion played to a 14-14 tie, Eastern Michigan edged Baldwin-Wallace 15-13, Slippery Rock downed Wilmington 27-7, Findlay beat Hillsdale 13-3, Defiance defeated Adrian 13-7 and Alma beat Bluffton 25-13.

Baseball Standouts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
BATTING—Dalton Jones, Red Sox, lashed four hits and drove in five runs in Boston's 11-7 victory over Baltimore.

PITCHING—Rick Wise, Phillies, stopped Los Angeles on three hits as Philadelphia trimmed the Dodgers 3-1.

Iowa, with only 59 players, has the smallest football squad in the Big Ten this year.

Clears 7 of 9 To Pace Cards' Victory

Pro Kicker Sets Field Goal Mark

By ED SCHUYLER JR.,
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Bakken was looking so hard for the end—a National Football League field goal record—he almost lost sight of the means—the ball.

The football-style kicker set a record of seven field goals Sunday in nine attempts also a record. His kicking also carried the St. Louis Cardinals to a 28-14 upset of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

"I knew about the record, and it almost cost me," Bakken said. "When I kicked the seventh one, I wanted to see if it was any good almost before I kicked it. So I looked up and almost dubbed it. I just made it."

It just made it 23 yards and broke the mark of six set last season by soccer-style kicker Garo Yepremian of Detroit.

Don Chandler, another conventional-style kicker, didn't set any records, but he did save Green Bay from defeat for the second straight week.

Chandler, who booted an 18-yarder with 1:43 left to gain Green Bay a 17-17 tie with Detroit in their season opener, kicked a 6-yarder with just 63 seconds remaining Sunday, giving the mistake-prone Packers a 13-10 victory over the underdog Chicago Bears.

In other NFL games, Johnny Unitas boosted his career passing yardage past the 30,000 mark as Baltimore clobbered Philadelphia 38-6, Washington drubbed New Orleans 30-10, Dallas clipped the New York Giants 38-24, Detroit topped Cleveland 31-14 and San Francisco trounced Atlanta 38-7. Los Angeles outclassed Minnesota 39-3 Friday night.

Boston blanked Buffalo 23-0, Kansas City whipped Miami 24-0, San Diego outlasted Houston 13-3 and the New York Jets scrambled past Denver 38-24 in the American Football League.

The Cardinals, who stymied Pittsburgh with three interceptions and a fumble recovery which they converted into 16 points, scored their only touchdown on quarterback Jim Hart's 23-yard run in the first quarter.

Although Green Bay never could get rolling—Chicago intercepted five Bart Starr passes and recovered three fumbles—the Packers led 10-0 at halftime on the strength of Jim Grabowski two-yard touchdown run and Chandler's 20-yard field goal.

Chicago got a 22-yard three-pointer from Mac Percival in the third quarter and tied it on Gale Sayers' 13-yard TD dash just minutes before Chandler's winning kick.

Unitas passed 10 and 31 yards to flanker Willie Richards and Tony Loric scored on a pair of three-yard runs in Baltimore's romp. Sam Baker kicked two field goals for Philadelphia's points.

The running of Washington rookie fullback Ray McDonald proved too much for New Orleans. McDonald scored on runs of one, 36 and 15 yards and gained 98 yards in 15 carries. New Orleans got a touchdown on a 36-yard pass from Bill Kildare to Walter Roberts for a brief 10-6 lead in the second quarter.

Don Meredith sparked the Dallas victory, hitting on 17 of 26 passes for 243 yards and four touchdowns. Bob Hayes caught two of the scoring strikes, covering 43 and 20 yards. Fran Tarkenton passed 52 yards to Homer Jones for one Giant TD, and Jones ran 46 yards on a reverse for another.

Milt Plum threw a TD pass and Tom Watkins rushed for two scores in Detroit's triumph over Cleveland. One Cleveland TD came on a Frank Ryan pass.

San Francisco scored on a march from the opening kickoff, and the rout was on. John Brodie passed for two 49er touchdowns, and Gary Lewis ran for two more.

Parents Take Children from Dayton School

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A group of white parents, vowing to keep their children from attending Roth High School here, plan to meet again tonight for a strategy session.

The majority of the white students at the 1,000-pupil school have been absent from classes since Wednesday afternoon when several claimed they were beaten by Negroes who were chanting "Black Power." About 85 per cent of the school's students are Negro.

The group of white parents met Saturday at Drexel Park agreed to form a five-member committee to present their complaints to the Board of Education. The parents said they have been told that their children cannot attend any other public school because they live in the Roth district.

The white students charged there has always been "baiting" by Negro students, and that the situation became critical after street disturbances on the West Side Tuesday night.

One parent, Fred Bear, said: "Even under a court order I'll refuse to send my child back to Roth. I'll go to jail first."

Another parent charged, "This kind of stuff has been going on for over three years. We're getting tired of having our children and beaten and called dirty names."

One white student said he and two other boys were attacked Wednesday by Negroes who struck and kicked them. Two students reported they saw Principal William Bombeck struck during the melee, but Bombeck denied it.

No charges have been filed and no students have been suspended.

Picks Jail Irons

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Police officers had leg irons locked on Edward D. Mitchell when they brought him to jail from a Saturday night knife fight.

When they tried to get the irons off, the key broke.

A man being booked for drunkenness said he could help if he had a hair pin.

The jailers found one, and the drunk picked the lock.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — The high-income, industrialized nations of the non-Communist world are not doing enough to help underdeveloped countries, the World Bank says in its annual report.

An increase in aid from the governments of 16 industrial countries was offset by a drop in the flow of private capital, the report said.

Total resources coming from the 16 nations was $9.2 billion during 1966, down from $10.2 billion the previous year, mainly because of a sharp drop in private capital investment from the United States, the bank said.

The International Development Association, the bank report said, has virtually exhausted its resources and the $86.8 million remaining is already allocated. The IDA is a bank subsidiary which makes loans on easy terms to poor nations.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pacific II, another communications satellite, is set to be launched from Cape Kennedy next Wednesday.

The 357-pound satellite is to be placed in synchronous orbit 22,300 miles above the Pacific near the International Date Line, just west of the Pacific I satellite which was launched Jan. 11 and now provides service across the Pacific.

Similar to other satellites now in service, Pacific II will serve

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union has offered the United States what appears to be a satisfactory site for a new American embassy building in Moscow.

Both nations have said they need new embassy space, but neither has been willing to grant a space request without reciprocity.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional failure to enact a tax increase could weaken present unparalleled world confidence in the U.S. dollar, says Henry H. Fowler, secretary of the treasury.

"If we do not increase taxes, and if the economy gets out of hand—as there is a substantial risk it might under those circumstances—we can expect a sharp deterioration in our trade position," Fowler said.

In such a case, he said, exports would probably suffer and the nation's balance of payments problem would be aggravated.

Capital Footnotes

Secretary of Agriculture and Mrs. Orville L. Freeman have announced the engagement of their daughter, Constance Jane, to Gary A. Walker, a Peace Corps school teacher in Sierra Leone.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., says that the "thin" antiballistic missile system to be built in the United States ignores a threat by the Soviet Union. When announced by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, the system was billed as a means to forestall a possible nuclear threat from Red China.

The Department of Transportation has announced a $4.8 million contract award to build a cross-city highway in Baltimore. It will be the first such project to consider social, economic, esthetic and historical as well as purely functional impact.

James Rhoades, 2, son of Mrs. Sue Rhoades, Route 3, fell against a bed lacerating the bridge of his nose.

Angela Webb, 1½, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Webb, fell on a hot air register and received first and second degree burns on her right arm and leg.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Herald Examiner columnist, looking back into the newspaper's files, found this item printed 25 years ago:

"Common complaint in Los Angeles today was, 'My eyes smart.' The office of Dr. George Uhl, city health officer, received numerous reports of burning eyes and nostrils and sharp headaches.

"Dr. Uhl assured citizens that the condition was nothing to worry about. He said it was due to aggravating effects of gases, smoke and vapor from industrial plants and monoxide gases from motor vehicles. The city health office predicted that the discomfort would be only temporary."

Leaflets Rain on North; U.S. Predicts Success

SAIGON (AP)—As the blasting back and forth across South Vietnam's northern frontier went into its third week, U.S. planes dropped leaflets urging North Vietnamese villagers to join the South, officials said today.

In an unprecedented move, some 240,000 leaflets were dropped in a village just above the border warning of "the terrible rain of death and destruction" caused by B52 bombing attacks in the area.

In the border battle, Communist gunners fired more than 300 rounds today at Con Thien, a U.S. Marine outpost just 2½ miles below the demilitarized zone. Marine commanders refuse to give up the post, saying it holds a commanding position overlooking Communist infiltration routes down from the DMZ, where North Vietnam reportedly has perhaps 35,000 troops.

The B52s mentioned in the leaflets have been trying to take Communist pressure off Con Thien.

The eight-engine B52 Stratofortresses struck twice Sunday night and again today at Communist gun positions buried inside the DMZ. The bombers now have flown 79 strikes since mid-

August in support of Con Thien and nearby outposts, unloading perhaps 12 million pounds of bombs.

Her Quick Thinking Stops Bandit's Exit

MARRERO, La. (AP) — Bank teller Karen Paciera included a nasty surprise when she stuffed a holdup man's sack with $11,500.

A delayed action booby trap tear gas bomb in the sack spewed out its acrid gas a few minutes after the gunman reached the getaway car Friday.

Deputies converging on the scene after the First National Bank of Jefferson sounded an alarm said they spotted the getaway car moving slowly and uncertainly along an expressway about eight blocks away.

Detective Capt. William Warner identified the weeping occupants as Charles Guillot, 43, of Glendale, Calif., and Ann Allen Boaz, 40, of nearby New Orleans who was driving. They were charged with armed robbery.

The money was recovered.

ent Edwin O. White, with the Marines at Con Thien, reported that Marine casualties from today's shelling, although not officially disclosed, were relatively light.

White said this apparently was because the barrage came in the early morning when the Marines were still in their muddy bunkers and foxholes and not moving about the three small hills that make up the Con Thien base.

Con Thien and another Marine outpost, Camp Carroll, were hit with about 125 rounds of artillery and rocket fire Sunday that left four Marines dead and 48 wounded, the U.S. Command said.

Wambler American. The only U.S. car that could stop you from buying an import.

At a price very close to the leading import, the American seats six people instead of four.

It gives you nearly twice as much room in the trunk and more than twice as much engine under the hood.

Like the imports, the American doesn't change its style every year, gets about 20 miles on a gallon of regular gas.

Unlike some imports, it never gives you the feeling that you're driving a toy.

Rebel. America's most underrated car.

The Rebel 550 Hardtop is the lowest priced intermediate sized hardtop in America.¹

It looks sporty, drives sporty and still gives you all the things that most people buy a car for.

The Rebel—Hardtop, Wagon, Sedan or Convertible, V8 or 6—is everything we think a car should be.

Before you pay more for an intermediate, make sure you get as much.

Ambassador. The car with air conditioning as standard equipment.

Air conditioning has been around for a long time, but so far only a few companies—the people who make

Rolls Royce for one—have had the good sense to include it in their cars at no extra cost.

We're another.

We just don't understand why someone should be asked to pay a lot of money for a luxury car and then be asked to pay over $300 more for the luxury of air conditioning.

Introducing the Javelin.

Although we've always had the reputation for making sensibly priced, well-built cars, we've never had the reputation for making hot, sporty cars.

We'll soon have the reputation for making hot, sporty cars.

The front and rear bumpers on the Javelin are massive. Unlike thin blade bumpers, these give the car a rich, racy look.

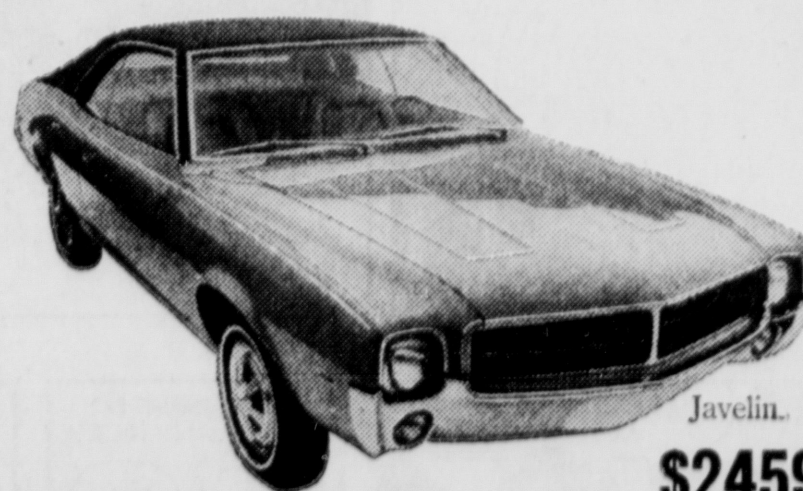

The side windows on the Javelin are solid sheets of curved glass, without vents to break up its fast lines.

The Javelin SST comes with wheel discs, special exterior trim, reclining bucket seats and a woodgrain steering wheel, all standard.

And all for a lower price than the other sporty hardtops.¹

Picks Jail Irons

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Police officers had leg irons locked on Edward D. Mitchell when they brought him to jail from a Saturday night knife fight.
When they tried to get the irons off, the key broke.
A man being booked for drunkenness said he could help if he had a hair pin.
The jailers found one, and the drunk picked the lock.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The high-income, industrialized nations of the non-Communist world are not doing enough to help underdeveloped countries, the World Bank says in its annual report.

An increase in aid from the governments of 16 industrial countries was offset by a drop in the flow of private capital, the report said.

Total resources coming from the 16 nations was $9.2 billion during 1966, down from $10.2 billion the previous year, mainly because of a sharp drop in private capital investment from the United States, the bank said.

The International Development Association, the bank report said, has virtually exhausted its resources and the $86.8 million remaining is already allocated. The IDA is a bank subsidiary which makes loans on easy terms to poor nations.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pacific II, another communications satellite, is set to be launched from Cape Kennedy next Wednesday.

The 357-pound satellite is to be placed in synchronous orbit 22,300 miles above the Pacific near the International Date Line, just west of the Pacific I satellite which was launched Jan. 11 and now provides service across the Pacific.

Similar to other satellites now in service, Pacific II will serve

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union has offered the United States what appears to be a satisfactory site for a new American embassy building in Moscow.

Both nations have said they need new embassy space, but neither has been willing to grant a space request without reciprocity.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional failure to enact a tax increase could weaken present unparalleled world confidence in the U.S. dollar, says Henry H. Fowler, secretary of the treasury.

"If we do not increase taxes, and if the economy gets out of hand—as there is a substantial risk it might under those circumstances—we can expect a sharp deterioration in our trade position," Fowler said.

In such a case, he said, exports would probably suffer and the nation's balance of payments problem would be aggravated.

Capital Footnotes

Secretary of Agriculture and Mrs. Orville L. Freeman have announced the engagement of their daughter, Constance Jane, to Gary A. Walker, a Peace Corps school teacher in Sierra Leone.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., says that the "thin" antiballistic missile system to be built in the United States ignores a threat by the Soviet Union. When announced by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, the system was billed as a means to forestall a possible nuclear threat from Red China.

The Department of Transportation has announced a $4.8 million contract award to build a cross-city highway in Baltimore. It will be the first such project to consider social, economic, esthetic and historical as well as purely functional impact.

That's Right—Smog

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Herald Examiner columnist, looking back into the newspaper's files, found this item printed 25 years ago:

"Common complaint in Los Angeles today was, 'My eyes smart.' The office of Dr. George Uhl, city health officer, received numerous reports of burning eyes and nostrils and sharp headaches.

"Dr. Uhl assured citizens that the condition was nothing to worry about. He said it was due to aggravating effects of gases, smoke and vapor from industrial plants and monoxide gases from motor vehicles. The city health officer predicted that the discomfort would be only temporary."

Either we're charging too little, or everyone else is charging too much.

Wambler American. The only U.S. car that could stop you from buying an import.

At a price very close to the leading import, the American seats six people instead of four.

It gives you nearly twice as much room in the trunk and more than twice as much engine under the hood.

Like the imports, the American doesn't change its style every year, gets about 20 miles on a gallon of regular gas.

Unlike some imports, it never gives you the feeling that you're driving a toy.

Rebel. America's most underrated car.

The Rebel 550 Hardtop is the lowest priced intermediate sized hardtop in America.¹

It looks sporty, drives sporty and still gives you all the things that most people buy a car for.

The Rebel—Hardtop, Wagon, Sedan or Convertible, V8 or 6—is everything we think a car should be.

Before you pay more for an intermediate, make sure you get as much.

Ambassador. The car with air conditioning as standard equipment.

Air conditioning has been around for a long time, but so far only a few companies—the people who make

Rolls Royce for one—have had the good sense to include it in their cars at no extra cost.

We're another. We just don't understand why someone should be asked to pay a lot of money for a luxury car and then be asked to pay over $300 more for the luxury of air conditioning.

Introducing the Javelin.

Although we've always had the reputation for making sensibly priced, well-built cars, we've never had the reputation for making hot, sporty cars.

We'll soon have the reputation for making hot, sporty cars. The front and rear bumpers on the Javelin are massive. Unlike thin blade bumpers, these give the car a rich, racy look.

The side windows on the Javelin are solid sheets of curved glass, without vents to break up its fast lines.

The Javelin SST comes with wheel discs, special exterior trim, reclining bucket seats and a woodgrain steering wheel, all standard.

And all for a lower price than the other sporty hardtops.¹

Leaflets Rain on North; U.S. Predicts Success

SAIGON (AP)—As the blasting back and forth across South Vietnam's northern frontier went into its third week, U.S. planes dropped leaflets urging North Vietnamese villagers to join the South, officials said today.

In an unprecedented move, some 240,000 leaflets were dropped in a village just above the border warning of "the terrible rain of death and destruction" caused by B52 bombing attacks in the area.

In the border battle, Communist gunners fired more than 300 rounds today at Con Thien, a U.S. Marine outpost just 2½ miles below the demilitarized zone. Marine commanders refuse to give up the post, saying it holds a commanding position overlooking Communist infiltration routes down from the DMZ, where North Vietnam reportedly has perhaps 35,000 troops.

The B52s mentioned in the leaflets have been trying to take Communist pressure off Con Thien.

The eight-engine B52 Stratofortresses struck twice Sunday night and again today at Communist gun positions buried inside the DMZ. The bombers now have flown 79 strikes since mid-

August in support of Con Thien and nearby outposts, unloading perhaps 12 million pounds of bombs.

Her Quick Thinking Stops Bandit's Exit

MARRERO, La. (AP) — Bank teller Karen Paciera included a nasty surprise when she stuffed a holdup man's sack with $11,500.

A delayed action booby trap tear gas bomb in the sack spewed out its acrid gas a few minutes after the gunman reached the getaway car Friday.

Deputies converging on the scene after the First National Bank of Jefferson sounded an alarm said they spotted the getaway car moving slowly and uncertainly along an expressway about eight blocks away.

Detective Capt. William Warner identified the weeping occupants as Charles Guillot, 43, of Glendale, Calif., and Ann Allen Boaz, 40, of nearby New Orleans who was driving. They were charged with armed robbery.

The money was recovered.

ent Edwin O. White, with the Marines at Con Thien, reported that Marine casualties from today's shelling, although not officially disclosed, were relatively light.

White said this apparently was because the barrage came in the early morning when the Marines were still in their muddy bunkers and foxholes and not moving about the three small hills that make up the Con Thien base.

Con Thien and another Marine outpost, Camp Carroll, were hit with about 125 rounds of artillery and rocket fire Sunday that left four Marines dead and 48 wounded, the U.S. Command said.
